ASSESSMENT MATTERS

ANNUAL ACADEMIC PROGRAM REVIEW (APR) REPORT ON ASSESSMENT

This academic year marked the beginning of the second 7-yr cycle of assessment reporting in the APR Self-Study Reports. The results are encouraging. The graph below shows the progression through the first seven years of assessment reporting, along with the most recent cohort, IA, in blue. As you can see, there has been a considerable increase in rubric scores for all areas this past year. We believe reporting in Taskstream AMS has helped with this increase, along with more program dedication to assessment.

Average Rubric Scores
Cohorts I-VII and IA

Legend:
- #1 (2011-12 N=23)
- #2 (2012-13, N=30)
- #3 (2013-14, N=43)
- #4 (2014-15, N=44)
- #5 (2015-16, N=24)
- #6 (2016-17, N=12)
- #7 (2017-18, N=43)
- #1A (2018-19 N=23)

ASSESSMENT: BACK TO BASICS WORKSHOP

Thank you to all who attended one of our two workshops! We had 20 people attend and participate. There were great questions and conversation around assessment.

ANNUAL REPORTING ON PROGRAM ASSESSMENT

Don't forget, we are changing the annual assessment reporting update deadline to September 30th. We encourage all of the programs to have their findings uploaded by the summer, and if you have the changes identified, please complete your workspaces and submit them for review. However, if you need to wait until faculty review the findings and discuss, we will expect to see your 2018-2019 Assessment Cycle submitted for review by the end of September. Need help? Check out our Best Practices in Taskstream reporting for more information.