2021-2022 Assessment Cycle Reporting due in Taskstream by September 30!

Don’t forget that the deadline for submitting the 2021-2022 Assessment cycle is coming up and Sept. 30 will be here before you know it! Be sure you include all 3 sections: Assessment Plan, Assessment Findings, and Changes in Response to Findings. It is also a good time to review your Curricular Map and make sure it is aligned with the measures in your plan.

As a reminder, you can access the “Best Practices in Taskstream Reporting” here. And all of our assessment resources can be found at assessment.arizona.edu.

Before you go…

You just finished entering the last of your findings and changes in response to findings and are feeling pretty good! BUT WAIT! You are not quite done.

In order to submit your assessment cycle for review, you need to submit each section. Go to the “Submission & Read Reviews” tab. You will see in the middle a black “submit work” button next to the Assessment Plan, Findings and Changes sections. Click on each of those in order to submit them for review. You will get a pop-up window that asks if you are sure you want to submit and click yes. Now, you are done! Remember, once we have reviewed your cycle and released it, you can see the results and comments on that same tab.

Did you know?

The Office of Instruction and Assessment (OIA) and the Office of Digital Learning (ODL) have come together! We are a new unit called the University Center for Assessment, Teaching and Technology (UCATT).

We offer the same great services but, working together, we will be able to add to our menu and bring you bigger and better assistance with assessment, teaching and technology!

Why Assess?

ASSESSMENT IS TODAY’S MEANS OF MODIFYING TOMORROW’S INSTRUCTION

CAROL ANN TOMLINSON

And so, the semester begins…..